

Your Invitation to

'Pipeline Industries Guild Forum 2010
Delivering 21st Century Utility Infrastructure'

Tuesday 9th March 2010
1 Great George Street
London
SW1P 3AA

The utility industry continues to face challenges from historic infrastructure as well as meeting the agenda of the 21st century: carbon reduction, sustainability and renewable energy, climate change, carbon capture, transportation and storage. This year's Guild utility forum will present a variety of presentation on current projects, latest technologies and solutions.

This one-day conference will feature a series of high-profile speakers and presentations with opportunities for questions and answers throughout the sessions focusing on key design issues to be considered and met as well as the prospects for potential new business for a global pipeline industry.

The Conference will feature sessions on:

- Importance of pipelines
- Investing in infrastructure
- Sustainable pipelines
- Smart Pipes
- Smart Solutions
- Standards: Fit for purpose?
- Developing New Technologies for Competitive Advantage
- Urban Futures

The conference will provide the opportunity to hear industry experts on subjects of cutting edge technologies with networking with members representing asset owners, operators, contractors and service companies at both this 1-day and the Guild's National Dinner.

The seminar will consider subjects challenging utility and infrastructure industry short, medium and long-term as we all address the global pipeline industry needs and prospects for the future. The problems are known as the Guild gathers for the National Dinner this is an opportunity to also look at solutions.
