

Steve Robertson CEO Openreach

"As a major operator of communication networks across the UK, Openreach is pleased to endorse NJUG's Vision for Street Works. I am particularly keen to support the partnership initiative as a mechanism to minimise disruption and inconvenience to local communities when essential street works take place, with the emphasis on communication and cooperation rather than confrontation. I would also see this element as the enabler to achieve other parts of the NJUG vision.

Safety, continual improvement and the encouragement of best practice are now a focus within all the day-to-day operations of Openreach. We look forward to working with NJUG to promote and further develop these key drivers including vital interaction with all the key stakeholders. We strongly believe these initiatives will enhance the quality of street works throughout the UK".
