

Virgin Media

Paul BATTERY

Managing Director – Access Division
December 2007

Virgin Media, one of the UK's leading entertainment and communications companies, is delighted to support NJUG's vision for street works. As a founder member and active current member of NJUG Ltd, we will continue to work with utility colleagues, highway authorities and governments to raise quality, maintain safety standards and reduce unnecessary congestion.

Virgin Media supports NJUG's partnership initiative between utilities and local authorities in an effort to reduce unnecessary conflict and legislative confusion and is available to work with the DfT, HAUC (UK) and any other bodies to promote efficiency and a common understanding of all aspects of street works.

Having been involved with the Traffic Management Act 2004, Transport (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Street Works (Amendment) (Northern Ireland) Order 2007 at conception, Virgin Media is making every effort to comply with the new and forthcoming legislation that affects the whole of the UK and is committed to a vigorous education and training programme to ensure that its people and contractors are ready when the various changes come into effect.

We will work tirelessly with NJUG to improve utility standards to help achieve NJUG's aim of ensuring that our street works in the UK are regarded as world class whilst maintaining first class service to our customers.
