

Western Power Distribution

Western Power Distribution is the electricity distribution network operator for the South West of England and for South Wales. We have an extensive network and have a statutory responsibility to maintain and repair the network as well as making timely and economic connections for new customers. During the course of these essential works on behalf of our customers, we are committed to delivering the objectives contained in the NJUG Vision for Street Works namely:

- Safety is the number one priority
- Damage to underground assets is avoided
- Utilities work together and in partnership with local authorities to minimise disruption
- Utilities deliver consistently high quality
- Utilities maximise the use of sustainable methods and materials
- Street Works in the UK are regarded as world class.

Robert Symons
Chief Executive
Western Power Distribution